Hands up if you've been dressing your pet up for Christmas! We can't put ours up because we're writing this, but those cat antlers were priceless. Well worth the scabs.

It turns out that Clint Eastwood also has a penchant for dressing his animals in festive gear, including this pot-bellied pig called Penelope.

Clint is so proud of his pig in blanket (let's all just stop here and note our funny... wait... ok, continue) that he ended up whipping out this photo when he appeared on the Ellen DeGeneres show last week.

We were going to point out that the costume isn't all that seasonal - regal perhaps, but not seasonal - but then we realised that the actor/director/old man rescued Penelope from an animal shelter and that's really rather nice.
